

AS A LIFE-BELT IS FOR THE SEA, SO IS A CHEMICO BODY SHIELD FOR BATTLE. EVERY SOLDIER SHOULD HAVE THE PROTECTION OF A CHEMICO SHIELD FROM BULLET, BAYONET, SWORD, SHRAPNEL, AND GRENADE.

THE KEIGHLEY NEWS SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 4, 1916.

THE ROUMANIAN STAND.

The Roumanian theatre continues to be the main centre of interest and anxiety. During the past week there have been no marked changes in the situation. What news there is almost entirely reassuring; but it does not relate to any operations on a large scale.

In estimating the Roumanian situation, however, it is necessary to remember that, though the fighting has been so furious that the German army is said to have lost one-quarter of its effectives in the course of a month, the engagements so far must be regarded as of a preliminary and minor character.

THE NATIONAL MISSION.

Perhaps there has never been a religious movement in the nation's history so characterised as the National Mission of Repentance and Hope. Called into existence by the Archbishops of Canterbury and York, it has engulfed the life and thought of every parish up and down the country.

Direct help for Roumania in the trial through which she is passing can come only from Russia. But that the other allies are not neglecting any opportunity for rendering indirect aid is evidenced by the pressure continuously exerted by the composite army operating from Salonika.

The climax of the National Mission is reached by the visit of the Bishops' Messengers, who conduct five-day missions in every parish church. They do not choose their spheres; no names are announced. They deliver the Bishop's message, and pass away. The leaders of the great Nonconformist churches, in council assembled, have sent messages of fraternal greeting, wishing the Mission God-speed.

LONDON LETTER.

London, Thursday.

The King and the War. Balmoral has finally given up hope of a visit from the King and Queen. In his grandmother's time the heavens might fall, but the consequent awkwardness would not have been permitted to interfere with Her Majesty's setting off as the usual time for her best-loved home in the Highlands.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS.

THE KEIGHLEY HIPPODROME. This week there has been a return to the Keighley Hippodrome, and large numbers of patrons have witnessed "Spots," a bright and breezy production, which is being presented by the Big Feature Syndicate.

OXFORD HALL. "Meg, the Lady," a London Film Company production, is "starred" at the Oxford Hall this week-end, and shows what trouble an innocent woman can get into through having a double.

COSY CORNER PICTURE HOUSE. A fine Vitaphone drama, "The Making Over of Geoffrey Manning" is the "star" film at the Cosy Corner Picture House to-day.

KEIGHLEY PICTURE HOUSE. The moral of the chief film entitled, "Then I'll Come Back to You"—an excellent adaptation from the popular novel by Larry Evans—which is being shown at the Picture House this evening, is that good eventually triumphs over evil.

Winston Churchill's New Role. In a moment of Ministerial depression during the activities of the "Fourth Party," Stafford Northcote plaintively murmured to a sympathetic colleague, "You never know where you have Randolph."

A War Journalist. The position thus attained is of supreme advantage to the present incumbent. Among unique positions, it is no exaggeration to say that every man engaged in political life, has the paper on his Sunday breakfast table, and closely scans its leading articles. Passages from these are widely quoted in the columns of the country papers.

THE FUTURE OF HIGHER EDUCATION. "Great Thought" for November commences a new volume. A valuable symposium on cinema methods and modern methods of instruction, led by J. J. Jellison and Lady Wigham (police magistrate), from Dr. Campbell Morgan and the noted producer, Mr. Bannister Merwin.

THE CRY FOR ALLOTMENTS. In considering the possibilities of increasing the home-grown food supply it is to be hoped the Government will not overlook the plea raised at the Keighley Rural District Council meeting this week.

AGRICULTURAL WAR PROBLEMS. The West Riding War Agricultural Committee met through an immense volume of business at their meeting at Wakefield on Wednesday.

SCHOOLGIRL WAR WORKERS. By what appears to be a happy little arrangement girls in elementary schools are to be allowed to make, in school hours, woollen articles or for the troops during the coming winter.

THE WEST RIDING SCHOOL FEES. The action of the West Riding Education Authority in practically doubling the fees for evening schools, says a daily contemporary, would seem to be having a detrimental effect on the classes in some places.

LOCAL TOPICS.

Keighley and the West Riding Soldiers' Fund. The purpose of the West Riding War Fund, on behalf of which the Mayor of Keighley has just issued a special appeal, has previously been explained in these columns.

THE RESCUE SOCIETY'S ANNUAL MEETING. A good attendance is hoped for at the annual meeting of the Keighley and District Rescue Society, which is to be held in the Mayor's Parlour at the Town Hall next Tuesday.

JOHN DRAKE'S EDUCATIONAL ZEAL. For the teaching and methods of the Salvation Army, it is to be feared, John Drake would have had anything but sympathy.

A STONE-LAYING IN 1716. Whether the extremely orthodox haberdashery of Church Gate would be entirely satisfied with the religious tolerance which has been shown by the town since the days of the Quakers, some were induced by that vile sect of the Anabaptists, to follow false ways of worship.

THE NATIONAL SHOP CLOSING ORDER. The shopping time extensions conceded by the Home Secretary, in response to the protests against his original order, greatly simplify the situation so far as Keighley is concerned.

POSSIBLE EXTENSIONS FOR CHRISTMAS-TIME. On one point it is possible that some further concession may be granted. The Home Office evidently recognises the possible need for extensions to cope with the rush of Christmas business.

THE CRY FOR ALLOTMENTS. In considering the possibilities of increasing the home-grown food supply it is to be hoped the Government will not overlook the plea raised at the Keighley Rural District Council meeting this week.

The war has changed people's ideas in many ways. We have learned the lesson that to meet to-day's conditions we must use to-day's methods. Some of the well-tried things of the past are not good enough for to-day's needs. Even so in household matters. The old cocoon matting used to be satisfactory, but it must and is giving place to Doubleweave, the matting made by a modern process which gives to the fibres an extra hard twist and results in finished material having a hard, bright, dirt-proof surface. The price is no higher than that of the ordinary matting, and you can have any length and width and different patterns. Come and see it. Besides matting we have the largest stock in the district of carpets and cork linoleum. Come and look round, you will not be asked to buy. Share's Warehouse, Bottom Market Place, Keighley.

VOLUNTEER MANOEUVRES IN THE WEATHER.

On Sunday last the Keighley and District battalions of the West Riding Volunteers met in combined operations in the neighbourhood of Otley, which formed a practical demonstration of the immediate utility of the Volunteer system of mobilisation, and incidentally a fine display of military drill.

The time of the Keighley Battalion's departure from Denbham was known to the Battalion, and they were accordingly prepared to advance well beyond the point where the Battalion was to be met, and to be met by the Battalion.

His last composition was a more sentimental and sentimental character than his predecessor, and the patriotic element is much in evidence. The setting of the words, without presenting much difficulty either to singer or listener, is very effective and well executed, and the composer is not extravagantly extended. The song should prove a useful addition to the libraries of amateur vocalists on the look out for something new.

Mr. Charles Stanley reported on a meeting of the Yorkshire Federation of Chambers of Trade held at Ilkley, when the question of house-shops was discussed. It was stated that in some of these cases the class of shopkeepers was a very poor one, and that it was pointed out that shopkeepers were agitating for milliners, manufacturers, and others to pay workpeople's wages earlier in the week. It was pointed out that shopkeepers themselves set a bad example by paying their assistants at the last moment at the week-end. A letter from Mr. J. C. Dawes (chief sanitary inspector for the Corporation) was read, stating that the views of the tradesmen were desired by the Secretary of State to forward their views as to the desirability, or otherwise, of fixing later closing hours during the Christmas season. The views of the tradesmen were asked on the matter. The meeting resolved to suggest that the closing hours in the week previous to Christmas should be as follows: Tuesday, optional, 10 p.m.; Wednesday, 10 p.m.; Thursday, 10 p.m.; Friday, 9 p.m.; Saturday, 10 p.m. It was decided to close the shops on Christmas on the whole of Monday and Tuesday, December 25 and 26.

FURTHER PROGRESS ON THE SOMME.

In the western theatre of war the heavy rains of the past week have greatly hindered operations by turning the ground into a quagmire, but notwithstanding this, considerable fighting of a local character has been going on. In the neighbourhood of Lesboufs on Saturday the British captured several important enemy trenches, and another trench in the same area was taken on Sunday. Tuesday's reports spoke of artillery and trench mortar bombardments of the enemy's line in the neighbourhood of the Hohensalm and La Bassée Canal, and of the water-logged condition of the ground infantry work on a general scale has not been possible.

On the Verdun front the French have carried a quarry north-east of Douaumont which had been strongly organized by the enemy and possessed considerable tactical value. Its capture was the result of a smart coup. The artillery duel on this front continues with undiminished violence, but no infantry action has been attempted.

On the Somme the Germans made an attack on Sunday on the French positions near La Maisonnette, preceding it by a violent bombardment accompanied by the use of liquid fire. The attack failed, the French artillery and machine-gun fire breaking up all the efforts of the enemy and driving him back into his trenches. Later the Germans launched another attack against the positions from Biches, to the south of La Maisonnette, and after being several times repulsed they succeeded in penetrating some points in the first-line trenches north of La Maisonnette, and also set foot in the buildings of that farm. The Germans have again violently bombarded the town of Reims. Around Sully-Naillois the French have improved their position and have made progress, capturing a system of enemy trenches to the north-west and east.

PROGRESS TOWARDS LE TRANSLOY. In attacks north of the Somme on Wednesday the French and British gained successes, mainly around Lesboufs, in the direction of Le Transloy. During Tuesday night the French made some progress north-east of Lesboufs, and on Wednesday, by a fresh attack, two enemy trenches were captured north of this village. The French also seized a strongly organized system of trenches on the western outskirts of St. Pierre Vaast Wood. On Wednesday morning the Germans made another violent attack on the village of Sully-Saillies, but met with a complete defeat. In the afternoon, in conjunction with the French, gained some ground east of Lesboufs.

BETTER NEWS FROM ROUMANIA. There is a decided change for the better in Rumania, where our ally is not only making a stand but taking the offensive on the Transylvanian frontier. Here the Rumanians have scored successive gains in the passes, and have taken over 2,600 prisoners. For the present General Falkenhayn's advance has been stayed, but it is too early to assert that he has been definitely checked. Bad weather has hampered operations of late. The fact remains, however, that with the help now being thrown to the Rumanians in a more active way, they are able to oppose the enemy, if not to resume their successful general offensive. The measure of Falkenhayn's success, apart from the recapture of ground, is surprisingly small, as is shown by Tuesday's German official report. Since October 10—that is, for the last three weeks—the enemy has been unable to advance more than 10,000 paces. In the Dobruja the situation still remains unchanged, although according to a report from Odessa the Russo-Serbo-Rumanian forces here have assumed the offensive. The report is not confirmed, but such a move is to be expected.

In the Jial Valley a further Rumanian success is reported, but in the Predal region the enemy claims to have penetrated the Rumanian positions, whilst it is added that south-east of the Roter Turn Pass enemy attacks have gained ground. Wednesday's Rumanian communiqué admits a Rumanian retirement in the Olt Valley.

BRITISH ADVANCE ON THE STRUMA. The allied forces in Macedonia have made some progress, but their operations have slackened owing to bad weather. In the Cerna region, however, the Serbians continue to progress, though it is alleged in the Berlin communiqué that on Monday they were thrown back to the trenches from which they initiated an attack. An advance by the British on the left bank of the River Struma led to the capture of Baraki-Dama (with heavy losses to the enemy) and the occupation of Prosenik and Kuml, from which the enemy were driven.

Tuesday's Russian communiqué reports the capture of some enemy trenches west of Latak, in the district of Strinitsky. Monday's German and Austrian communiqués spoke of strong Russian attacks here, and alleged that they were repulsed. Similarly, Tuesday's German report alleges the capture of some Russian positions on the Narajowa, near Halicz, but Petrograd announces that the enemy attacks were repulsed.

Wednesday's messages state that desperate battles continue on the Russian front south of Brzezany, in Galicia. The Russians report the repulse of enemy attacks, whilst the Germans state that the Russians counter-attacked the positions alleged to have been won by the enemy on the eastern bank of the Narajowa, but without success. Government warns the Allies not to put too much trust in the willingness of the Athens Cabinet to carry into full effect the undertakings given to the Entente Powers. The torpedoing of the Greek steamer Angeliki has created much indignation at Salonika, a feeling which will be still further intensified by the fact that another Greek steamer has been sunk at the same spot. The Donaldson liner Marins (5,204 tons) was torpedoed and sunk without warning on Saturday by a German submarine. Some of the crew were picked up by a steamer and taken into the Irish port of Crookhaven. The owners of the vessel report that eighty-six men are reported to be landed, and that eighteen were on Tuesday still unaccounted for. It transpires that forty-nine Americans were among the crew, and that six were killed and two injured. An investigation into the circumstances in relation to the German pledges to the United States is being made. The owners state that the vessel was not on Government charter nor did she carry a cargo.

It is officially reported from Berlin that the USS safely returned. This boat was the second German submarine to cross the Atlantic. She carried a message from the Kaiser to President Wilson, and after leaving the American port at which she called she sank several ships. Mr. Balfour (First Lord of the Admiralty) in Parliament on Tuesday, gave some additional information regarding the German destroyer raid in the Channel. He stated that the Flirt, a destroyer of the old type, appeared to have been surprised in the darkness by the enemy, who fired at her at close range and sank her. The Nubian was torpedoed, but it was believed that she would be salvaged. We also lost six drift-net boats. There was ground for think-

FRENCH MOVING TOWARDS LE TRANSLOY. GERMANS ABANDON FORT VAUX. 400,000 ADDITIONAL WORKERS.

Dr. Addison (Parliamentary Secretary, Munitions) was present with a party of 100,000 men at the Woodley Arsenal on Tuesday, gave an interesting and most interesting account of the progress of the munitions programme. He said that they were providing extensions of steelworks at a probable saving of something like £6,000,000 a year, and would, provided our programme is satisfactorily developed, be entirely independent of foreign steel supplies by next March. During the summer months the expenditure of ammunition had been about 1,000,000 rounds, and it was in the month of January, but there were more filled ships of France today than there were at the beginning of the war. Our augmented programme, said Dr. Addison, varies largely from the increased production of steel, and he thought that distinct progress had been made in this respect. There was a certain amount of steel which could only be extracted to the physical properties.

The new programme was raising an explosive in thousands of tons. With regard to man-labour, even two new factories for explosives must require at least 21,000 people. He predicted that at least 315,000 additional men would be required by the end of the year. The augmented programme was to be efficiently carried out. He outlined three lines of heavy work for which neither women nor invalids were suitable. "We have practically," he said, "to control the whole stocks of the country, and it means a greater interdependence than ever with private firms. There are as yet no women munition workers at the moment. By returning from 4,000 firms who have laid down 75 per cent. claimed as skilled, 10 per cent. as semi-skilled, and 5 per cent. as unskilled. But we must get the supply of munition workers from the same source as the men who make them. The labour is going to be equipped in the country better than ever it has been equipped before. We must adopt a more up-to-date method, and we shall make it a sine qua non in all the legislation contemplated that plant must be up-to-date."

THE YORKSHIRE BOWLING ASSOCIATION. DISTRICT REPRESENTATION REVISED.

The question of district representation, as to which there has been much controversy for a considerable period, was decided at the half-yearly meeting of the Yorkshire Amateur Bowling Association at the Grand Central Hotel, Leeds, on Saturday. Until six months ago the county was divided into four districts, each of which was represented on the Management Committee by two delegates and three vice-presidents. At the annual meeting in March last the number of districts was increased by the admission of Bradford and Halifax, so that an irregular procedure, as the rules cannot be altered except at the October meeting, but the matter was put in order by the association at its meeting on Saturday in the following terms: "That the county be divided into six districts—namely, Bradford, Halifax, Huddersfield, Leeds, Wakefield, and West Riding Central, and that the Management Committee consist of two representatives from each of the said districts. Although not specifically mentioned, it was also agreed that each district should continue to be also represented by three vice-presidents, and that the Management Committee should be increased to six members."

THE SEASON'S HONOURS. The first business was the presentation of silver medals to the Taylor Hill and Liverpool Bowlers' Clubs, and the Yorkshire Bowling Association. The secretary stated that in connection with the district competition which were arranged in connection with the future of the Yorkshire Bowling Association. After a spirited debate the amendment was carried by a sweeping majority.

AN AEROPLANE FROM BRADFORD. "Old Bradford" writes to "The Yorkshire Observer" on a considerably interesting article on the excellent article you gave on the paper of the Field-Marshal Viscount French to a Yorkshire aircraft factory. The account which your paper extracts from the Field-Marshal's speech is a most interesting one, and the use of the aeroplane, should help to acquaint local citizens with the vital importance of the latest form of warfare.

IN THE DISTRICT REPRESENTATION QUESTION. The President briefly explained the scheme of district representation that had been drawn up by the Yorkshire Bowling Association, and that an amendment to be submitted in order that the whole question might be discussed.

BOY KILLED BY AN AEROPLANE. An inquest was held on Saturday on the body of a boy of 11, who was killed the previous afternoon as the result of being struck by an aeroplane. The evidence showed that a second lieutenant, of the Royal Flying Corps, had, on Saturday afternoon, been flying low over the town, and that he had been seen to be flying over the town, having lost his way. The lieutenant asked some men to hold the wings of the machine while he restarted the engine. By some means the men on one side let go, but the men on the other side held on. A considerable crowd of people were watching, and in consequence of the men letting go the machine veered and got away. In its flight the engine caught fire, and the machine fell to the ground, a few inches of the boom. The boy's skull was fractured and the brain exposed; his left arm was taken off at the elbow, and his right leg was nearly severed between the knee and the thigh.

WEST RIDING TERRITORIAL ASSOCIATION.

The intentions of the Government with reference to the raising and equipment and use of the Volunteer Force were officially set forth in an important letter from General E. G. Huthme (Director-General of the Territorial Force), read by the Earl of Harwood (president) at a meeting of the West Riding Territorial Association held at the York on Monday, November 2nd, at the West Riding Hotel. The letter was as follows: "With reference to the proposed scheme for making further use of the Volunteer Force of the country, I am directed to inform you that the Government are desirous of increasing the number of men available to the service in every way possible of the service of the Volunteers, whose training, their general equipment, and their preparation for service in the field, are such as to enable them to be used as a reserve force to meet the exigencies of a future war.
